

David Cassidy, Chief Executive Officer, WEALTH at work

David Cassidy has over 20 years experience within the financial services industry.

David has been involved in regulation for over 15 years. He was Chairman of the Securities Institute Investment Advice Certificate Standing Committee (1993 – 1996); a Director of the Investment Management Regulatory Organisation (IMRO) (1994 – 2000), where he was also Chairman of the Investment Ombudsman Committee and a Member of the Financial Services Authority's Regulatory Decisions Committee from its inception until 2008 during which time he has been involved with many of the Authority's high profile industry investigations.

David has also been a regular commentator on personal financial issues in both the press and broadcast media for a number of years with regular appearances on Sky News and BBC Radio 4 and 5.

David was previously Chairman and CEO of Nelson Money Managers Plc.