Top 10 considerations for employees who are retiring in 2018.

Without the right support, as employees approach retirement they are at risk of making costly mistakes from paying too much tax to being scammed out of their savings by an offer 'too good to miss'. To help with this, WEALTH at work has created a list of top 10 considerations for employees who are thinking about retiring in 2018.

Do you offer employee's partial transfers within your defined benefit pension scheme(s)?

Since the pension changes we have seen a rise in employees wanting to transfer their defined benefit (DB) pension scheme into defined contribution pensions in order to take advantage of the new flexibilities. However, transferring from a DB pension scheme can mean that employees will be giving up valuable guaranteed benefits and they might find themselves worse off. Partial transfers could be a good option and middle ground for employees torn between sticking with a guaranteed income and transferring all of their benefits. Do you offer this option?
